

The value of x will be determined as the day passes since the disaster hits. This is because priority changes as the days pass.